Rice University School Mathematics Project's 2021 Summer Math Camps
at Annunciation Orthodox School's Camp AOS
for Students entering 2nd-grade through 5th-grade in the Fall, 2021

The Rice University School Mathematics Project (RUSMP) is offering one-week summer math camps at Annunciation Orthodox School's Camp AOS for students who will be entering 2nd- through 5th-grade in the Fall of 2021.

These camps (9:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.) will blend content-focused learning and enriching activities to engage students in fun, hands-on mathematics investigations and games with connections to science, technology, engineering. Students will enhance their love of learning and deepen their math understanding and will leave energized and enthusiastic about mathematics and the other STEAM disciplines for Fall of 2021.

Information about early arrival camp care as well as information about other camps is available through Annunciation Orthodox School.

(Visit <https://www.aoshouston.org/school-life/camp-aos> for more information.)

We are cautiously moving forward with our face-to-face summer camps with the understanding that they might change to virtual if necessary due to COVID-19.
